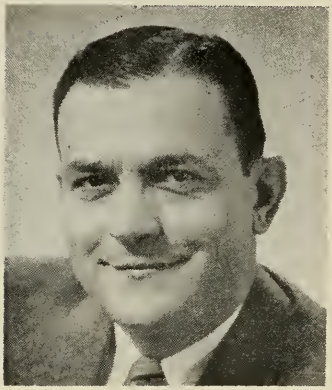
H. A. "Bud" MILLIKAN — Head Coach



Considered by the coaching fraternity as one of the nation's best basketball coaches, the popular Millikan began his tenth season as head of the Maryland basketball program that has blossomed into national prominence since his arrival at College Park.

The Terps' finest hour came at the close of the 1957-58 season when he brought the Atlantic Conference title to Maryland and an NCAA playoff appearance, along with sixth national ranking. It was the first league title won by Maryland since they won the old Southern Conference crown from Kentucky in 1931. For his success, he was recognized by the Baltimore Sports' Reporters Association as they named him the top man in the State of Maryland for bringing more recognition and publicity to the State than any other figure.

His nine year record is 144 wins and 79 losses.

There was high hope for the Terrapins again last year, but the early schedule was one of the toughest in the country. They lost four of the six games in December by a total of eleven points to four of the nation's top ranked teams, North Carolina State, Northwestern, Kentucky, and Navy.

When the former all-American from Oklahoma A&M came to Maryland in the spring of 1950, he found Terp basketball at its lowest. The team he inherited had won seven and lost 18 in the previous year. With the same team in his first season, the Terps woon 15 and lost 10 and went into the semi-finals of the Conference tournament.

Recommended by his college coach, the famous Hank Iba, Millikan came to Maryland from the small high school gymnasium of Newton High School in Iowa His accomplishments have so paid off that basketball interest at the University and throughout the District of Columbia and the State has skyrocketed. From the little gym at Newton High and his first "home court" of Ritchie Coliseum, Millikan sends his team before the excited fans in one of the nation's most beautiful and spacious gymnasiums, the fabulous 12,500 capacity William P. Cole, Jr., Student Activities Building. Indicative of the job he has done and the interest he has created is the fact that the Terps have played to turnaway crowds of over 15,000 people.

The popular 39-year old is a native of Maryville, Mo., and finished his high school studies there before going to college. He was a four-year letterman in football, basketball, track and tennis in high school.

Following high school, he enrolled at Oklahoma A&M and was a star guard of the varsity for three years. He was named to the all-America team for his outstanding performances of the 1941-42 season.

He stayed on at A&M for one year as freshman coach before entering the service. The great all-America Bob Kurland was one of his players that year.

While a student at A&M, Millikan won honors in the classroom also. He was listed on the Dean's list all four years as an honor student.

After two years in the United States Navy, he went back to A&M to assist Iba during the 1944-45 campaign, a team that won the National Championship that year.

He then went back to Maryville High School where he coached for two years and then moved to Newton, Iowa, High School where his teams won their conference titles both years.

Then the College Park assignment was accepted. With the development of top college fives in his brief tenure at Maryland and prospects for another winning ledger this year, the Millikanmen can point with pride to their young hard-working coach.

"Bud" as he is known to all, married the former Maxine Louthan, native of Maryville. They have a son, Marshall, age 13 and a daughter, Maria Rea, age 8.

PERRY MOORE — Assistant Coach

A star athlete at the University during his four years as an undergraduate, Moore became assistant basketball coach last fall. He handles scouting opponents for Millikan and the varsity, scouting high school prospects, and coaches the freshman team.

A top performer for Coach Millikan for three varsity years and an outstanding track man, Moore graduated with honors receiving a B. S. Degree from the School of Physical Education, Recreation, and Health. He graduated with near an A average.

As a track star, Moore competed in the hurdles, javelin, broad jump, discus, and high jump. In basketball, he was one of Millikan's top students of the game.

He was a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, the National Men's Honorary Fraternity; President of the Phi Alpha Epsilon, the honorary fraternity for Physical Education majors; he was named to "Who's Who In American Colleges and Universities,"; and was a member of Alpha Tau Omega, social fraternity.

He was selected on the Atlantic Coast Conference Academic team for two years. This honor is given by the Conference to those athletes who have excelled in the sport which they represent and in the classroom. He also was awarded the top ACC award for the excellence in athletics and academics.

Moore also competed in the National Decathlon meets and placed in the top ten each time he entered the national meet.

The new Terp assistant is 27 years old. He is a veteran of four years in the United States Navy. During this time in the service, he was a member of the all-Navy basketball and track teams.

A native of Bel Pre, Ohio, he is married and has a three-year-old daughter, Pamela.

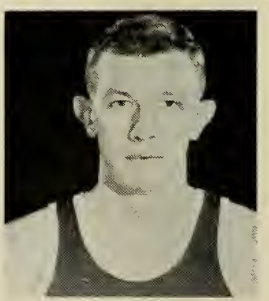
TERP THUMBNAIL SKETCHES

CHARLES McNEIL,—6-6—Junior—Pennsgrove, N. J.—The destiny of Maryland basketball for this season could well rest on the performance of one of the Terps' all-time finest players . . . the highly sought after and now most brilliant player for Maryland has the offensive weapons to help make a successful season . . . the all-Conference forward again this year was picked on the pre-season all-South teams and with a good record and his expected star showings, he could be a top candidate for post season honors . . . the slender sharp-shooter has had two good years as he teamed with teammate Al Bunge to comprise the best big-man duo Maryland has had . . . as a soph he was acclaimed the nation's second best rookie behind Oscar Robertson and he lived up to the billing . . . he led Maryland to its first ACC championship and to its first trip to the NCAA playoffs . . . he has been all-conference and all-tournament and was named to Chuck Taylor's honorable mention all-America after his soph year . . . set a new school record for scoring as a soph with 401 points . . . hit 311 last year and 205 as a freshman . . . with 288 points this season, he will hit the 1000 mark and be the second Terp to score that many in three seasons . . . Gene Shue hit 1397 in the 1953-4 season . . . has a deadly jump shot, one of the most accurate in the game . . . hits consistently from the circle or corners . . . is serious hard worker . . . has tremendous jumping skill . . . fine rebounder . . . pulled in 202 as a soph and 138 last year . . . had a 13.8% average as a soph and 14.8 last year . . . fine shooter, hitting 44.2% as a soph and 44.3 last season . . . will be shooting for a big year . . . in the school of Physical Education, Recreation, and Health.

JERRY BECHTLE—6-2—Senior—Elizabeth N. J.—an all-America high school player at St. Mary's, the affable Bechtle was one of the most sought after high school players in a long time . . . has been a fine star for the Terps and will be the one counted on most to give the team direction and leadership, which he can do . . . another good showing could bring post season honors for one of the Terps' all-time finest back court players . . . is the fastest man on the squad . . . exhibits blinding speed on a fast break . . . outstanding floor man . . . one of best defensively . . . was second leading scorer last season behind McNeil with 261 points for 11.9 mark . . . had 82 points as a soph substitute . . . has one of the most accurate and deadliest jump shots in the game . . . should have a big year with his outside jumper . . . this his favorite shot . . . has a nice one-hand push and a good set . . . does an unbelievably brilliant job scoring under the basket on a drive . . . hit 41.9% last year and led the team in foul shooting with 65 of 83 for a fine 78.3 mark . . . should be one of the bright stars this year . . . married . . . in School of Physical Education, Recreation, and Health.

AL BUNGE—6-9—Senior—Delano, N J.—without a doubt, Bunge is the finest "big man" ever to wear the Red and White for Maryland . . . has given the Terps two outstanding years and early indications point to his having his greatest as a senior . . . does a magnificent job both offensively and defensively . . . scores well with a fine variety of shots for a big man and is one of the games' very best rebounders . . . excels defensively . . . with McNeil, all-star honors could be his with another good year for the Terps . . . as a junior, he was selected to the pre-season third all-America team by SPORT MAGAZINE, the first Maryland plaver ever honored so by pre-season selectors . . . was AP first team all-Conference as a soph and second team all-tournament . . . second team honors won last year . . . does a fabulous job on the boards . . . his height and ability to get off the floor and his strength aid greatly in his fine rebounding skill ... grabbed 265 as a soph and 241 last season to lead the team both seasons . . . one of the league's top rebounders. . . had 297 points as a soph for a 10 2 average and 255 as a junior for 11.1 . . . scored 241 points as a freshman . . . hit on 40.2% of his sophomore shots and 40.8 last season . . . has fine speed and an outstanding ball handler for his size... especially strong scorer under the basket and has a dangerous jump shot along with a fine one-hand push shot ... hooks from either side also ... was first team all-state in New Jersey in basketball and football . . . also played four years of baseball at Palmyra High ... was a member of Terp pitching staff his soph year . . . an honor student at Palmyra . . . in School of Physical Education, Recreation, and Health.



PETE KRUKAR—6-1—Senior—Ford City, Pa.—one of the most pleasant surprise players of last season. Krukar hit stardom and was acclaimed widely for his brilliant defensive play . . . a masterful performance was given each game after he won a starting assignment for the final eight games of the season ...held the opponents' big scoring stars to their lowest totals of the season... his high spots were holding North Carolina's York Larese to seven points and NC State's Lou Pucillo to six ... will definitely be Coach Millikan's choice for the top defensive assignment in the back court this season ... has uncanny reactions and quick movements that enable him to stay up and with his man ... the Tar Heels' Larese credited Krukar with doing a better defensive job on him last year than anybody and further credited him as the best defensive player he had seen ... a fine floor man . . . good leadership . . . one of the most serious players Terps have had . . . hard worker and most conscientious . . . tremendous desire and determination . . . not a prolific scorer, but not a frequent shooter . . . jump shot his favorite . . . has a one hand push also . . . scored 17 as a soph and 48 last season ... one to watch carefully for top performance each game ... in School of Education.

PAUL JELUS—6-2—Sophomore—Camden, N. J.—another of the real prize packages Millikan came up, with two years ago . . . he too on last year's B squad . . . an early prediction labels him as a future star . . . his debut as a Terp was sensational as he led the baby Terps with 311 points for a 20.7 average . . . one of the best looking prospects, along with Kelleher . . . he hit 20 points or more in ten of the 16 frosh games . . . his high was 29 against the Virginia frosh . . . another real smooth little ball player with a lot of savvy and know-how . . . outstanding mannerisms . . . hard worker with a bundle of hustle . . . type player fans enjoy watching . . . exhibits leadership . . . early practices indicate he will be a big assist and will be pushing to see a lot of duty . . . has fine speed and is quick . . . fabulous on his drive . . . lay-ups most accurate . . . has a real good push and set from the outside . . . a good jump from inside . . . another to watch . . . the highly sought after star was Group III first team all-state in New Jersey his senior year . . . was also all-City at Woodrow Wilson High and named to the all-tournament team . . . was class president his final three years in high school and was ranked tenth in his graduating class . . . prepped at Greenbrier Military Academy where he was the big star . . . also on the National Honor Society at Greenbrier . . . played baseball also . . . in Pre-Dental School.

BOB McDONALD—6-7—Junior — Lansdowne, Pa.—another outstanding "big man" who is being counted on by Millikan to come through and give the Terps that third real good big man . . . and real good he is with tremendous potential to become an exceptional offensive and defensive star and a great rebounder . . . came up with a good soph season as a substitute . . . has looked good in early practice and fighting hard for a starting job . . . could be one of the first unit, a unit that would give the Terps three big men . . . McDonald has top speed with exceptional quickness . . . is especially tough on the boards . . . could provide a most important weapon with his rebounding . . . can get off the floor better than most big men . . . his height will help . . . has a good jump shot from out front and the corners and has a good one-hand push . . . is tough scoring under the basket . . . scored 66 points last season and grabbed 72 rebounds . . . prepped at Mercersburg Academy . . . married . . . in School of Agriculture.

TED MARSHALL — 6-6 — Sophomore—Johnstown, Pa.—a real good big boy who has been coming by leaps and bounds in early fall drills . . . a fine prospect, another of Millikan's hopefuls for the future in the big-boy class . . . his height sure to be big help . . . with that and experience he's sure to be a big help in the future . . . a hard worker with a lot of desire . . . an outstanding rebounder . . . scored 100 points for frosh . . . then on B team last year . . . Has an effective jump and does a good job near the basket . . . hooks from both sides . . was all state honorable mention at Westmont High . . . was first team all-district . . . first team all-county . . . first team all-Tri-County . . . in School of Education, majoring in Social Studies.

BOB WILSON—6-10—Junior — Freedom, Pa.—the tallest player the Terps have had and one whom Millikan has given many extra long hours of work to help the big boy get ready to be a big help for the Terps . . . the extra work has started to pay off, for he has looked good in early practice and has given notice that he will play a lot of ball this season . . . by coming through, he could make a pleasant situation for Millikan with four fine tall players with which to operate . . . an exceptionally hard worker . . serious and conscientious who wants to play . . . has a real good jump from the circle, hard to stop, as are his hooks . . . works hard on the boards and does a nice job . . . scored 17 points last season in eleven game appearances . . . married . . . in School of Business and Public Administration.

JERRY SHANAHAN—6-2—Senior—Pittsburg, Pa.—has looked most impressive in early drills and gives indications that he is ready to play the great basketball predicted of him and of which he has a most unlimited potential . . . a good year out of Shanahan could be a big tonic for the Terps . . . he will be out to nail down a starting job in the back court . . . was one of the real top prospects when he came to Maryland from St. Francis Prep after starring at Pittsburgh's Central Catholic . . . has excellent potential . . . always an offensive threat with his speed that makes him dangerous on the drive . . . is quick . . . jump shot his favorite from outside . . . also has a nice set and one-hander . . . hard worker with good hustle . . . good competitor . . . rebounds well . . . his coming through will help a great deal . . . in School of Business and Public Administration.

BRUCE KELLEHER — 6-2—Sophomore —Wilmington, Del. — one of the brightest stars to hit the Terp horizon . . . definitely has a future of stardom ahead of him if he continues to shine as he did as frosh following a sensational high school career at Wilmington's Saleslanum High . . . he was on the B squad last year and played brilliantly in practice . . . he was "Mr. Basketball" in the state of Delaware and was a prize catch for Millikan . . . as a frosh, he netted 232 points for a 15.5 average . . . one of the smoothest little players in Terp history . . . excellent ball handler . . . seems to have vast court knowledge . . . operates with a lot of finesse . . . will be pushing for a spot high on the playing ladder . . . has a deadly outside one-hander and set . . . nice jump shot . . . has good speed which adds to his fine drive . . . was first team all-state his junior and senior years at Salesianum and captained the team . . . one to watch . . . in School of Business and Public Administration.

Dave Schroeder

Mike Nofsinger

Steve Alpert

Nofsinger returns after a service hitch ... played as a freshman ... Schroeder and Alpert are up from last year's freshman team ... this threesome a good back court trio that will help ... will be used if team runs into injury or foul trouble ... Millikan will want them to get experience ... all three have good outside shots and are fine floor men.

BULLDOGS' RECORD AGAINST THE TERPS:

(This is First Meeting of the Two Schools)

WILLIAM P. COLE Jr.,
STUDENT ACTIVITIES BUILDING
Home of Terp Basketball

The Student Activities Building, Georgian in design to conform with the architectural motif of the University of Maryland campus, houses a complete indoor athletic plant. The building, completed in September, 1955, possesses some unusual and ingenious features, both as to the manner of construction and to the utilization of space and facilities. The auditorium is the second largest in the east and has the appearance of an indoor amphitheatre. The seating area has been "scooped out" and concrete stop slabs provide support for the seats, eliminating the elaborate structural frame necessary to place the seats above ground; thereby reducing construction costs. The seating capacity is 12,500 permanent seats with space for 4,000 additional temporary seats on the playing floor and promenade. In addition to the normal playing and spectator facilities, the outer periphery of the building provides offices and classrooms for the College of Physical Education, Recreation and Health; and the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics; a gymnasium for instructional purposes; rooms for boxing and wrestling; sleeping facilities for visiting teams; and combination apartment-offices for visiting coaches. The Architects were Hall, Border and Donaldson, Baltimore, Maryland. The General Contractor was Baltimore Contractors, Inc., Baltimore, Maryland.

SPECIFICATIONS

FOUNDATION: Auditorium section reinforced concrete walls below grade with membrane waterproofed exterior, piers and thrust footings supporting long span steel arches over auditorium roof. Seating area is reinforced concrete slab on sloped grade.

WALLS: Face brick curtain walls, slag block backup. Limestone trim base course sills, and coping of parapet around building. Wood double hung windows. Interior painted all exposed areas. Wood panelling and plastered walls in lobby and office areas.

FLOORS: Reinforced concrete slab floor supported by structural steel frame in classroom and office areas throughout. Toilet and showers have ceramic tile floors; playing floor is maple; stair treads, platforms and landings are alberene stone set in reinforced concrete slab. Offices, apartment and dormitory floors are asphalt tile; lobby and corridor floors are terrazzo.

ROOF: Batten seam aluminum roofing over auditorium on structural 2 in. insulating board attached to steel purlins carried by welded steel frame arch with end panels of protected metal and 1½ in. insulation. Office classroom areas are 20-year bond, built-up roofing over fiber board insulation, with vapor seal under insulation in high humidity areas, carried by concrete slab and structural steel frame. Metal gravel stops. Galvanized iron drains, copper flashing and downspouts.

INTERIOR FINISH: Ceilings — open finish in auditorium and painted concrete in most other areas. Suspended acoustical ceilings in trophy room, telephone booths, main lobby, promenade corridor and soffits of stairs. Walls — slag block and asbestos board partition walls painted. Wood interior doors and frame. Painted wainscoting in corridors, stairs, exposed concrete columns and lobby over glazed tile base.

A FEW ADDITIONAL NOTES ON THE BUILDING: The building is being paid for entirely with student funds. The $3.25-million combination gymnasium-auditorium, Physical Education-Athletic Department structure has been over five years in the planning, two and one-half years in the building.

The new Student Activities Building is as wide as a football gridiron, a third again as long, and stretches up to a height of 33 yards from the main playing floor to the rooftop.
